Federal Universal Service Charge

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) adopted rules that mandated that telecommunications carriers pay into a federal program called the Universal Service Fund (USF). This fund helps provide affordable telecommunications services for low-income customers and customers in rural areas. It also provides discounts on Internet access for eligible schools, libraries, and rural health care providers. The USF is collected from telecommunications carriers and administered by the Universal Service Administration Corporation. They are responsible for disbursing the funds according to eligibility criteria established by the FCC.

- A malfunction of customer owned telephone equipment or inside wiring, whether or not the customer has an inside wire maintenance plan
- An emergency situation
- The inability to gain access to customers premise due to customer missing the appointment
- A customer request to change an already scheduled appointment

5 Pay-Per-Call Resolution

Pay-per-call charges apply to any completed call using an abbreviated dialing code such as 900 or 976 exchange codes. The caller pays a per-call or per-time interval charge in addition to the charge for transmission of the call.

You have 60 days from the date on the bill to dispute a pay-per-call billing error. You have the right to withhold payment of the disputed charge during billing error review.

No collection activity for disputed pay-per-call charges will occur while the charges are under investigation. After investigation, if it is determined that the disputed charges are legitimate, your telecommunications carrier or the information provider may proceed with outside collections against your account for non-payment of these charges.

Your local and long distance services cannot be disconnected for non-payment of these charges. Failure to pay legitimate pay-per-call charges may result in involuntary blocking or your access to these types of services.

Voluntary blocking of access to pay-per-call charges is available upon request from your local telephone company.

6 Illinois Relay Service Helps Us Communicate

Reach Out With Relay

The Illinois Telecommunications Access Corporation (ITAC) administers and manages Illinois Relay on behalf of all local telephone companies in Illinois.

Relay allows people who are deaf, hard of hearing or speech impaired and use a TTY to communicate with people who use standard telephones. A standard telephone user calling a TTY user and a TTY user calling a standard telephone user, now has the option to dial a convenient three digit number, 711, to reach Illinois Relay instead of the traditional 800 numbers.

Illinois Relay is available seven days a week, 24 hours a day. The relay operator speaks to the standard telephone user and types to the TTY user. There is no cost for the use of this service.

To save time in an emergency, callers should dial 9-1-1 or local emergency access numbers instead of placing the call through relay.

A small fee included in your monthly telephone service charge funds Illinois Relay and is required by state and federal law. For information about Relay, call ITAC at 1.800.841.6167 V/TTY.
